

Enhancements for subscribers of IHS Standards Expert and IHS Standards Expert with Goldfire include new and updated icon-driven tools that clearly identify content access and important document information.

 	The AIA/NAS 3D Model solution is available for AIA/NAS 3D Model subscribers. If the 3D icon is greyed out, it indicates the solution is available, but not viewable by non-subscribers.
	This icon indicates that the document is in a language other than English.
	This icon indicates that an Account Note has been created for the document.
 	A red page icon indicates that a Redline document is available if a user subscribes to Active and Historical or an Active/Historical collection. If not, the icon is greyed out.
	This icon indicates that the document has Digital Rights Management (DRM) placed on it by the Standards Development Organisation authors, and requires the FileOpen plug-in to view the document.
	A shopping cart icon indicates that the document is not in the user's subscription. Clicking on the icon will present a user with purchasing options.
	Click on this icon to view the document; icon also indicates that the document is in a user's subscription. The document number may also be clicked on to view the document.
	This icon indicates that the document is available as a Document Preview version only and that it is not in the user's subscription.

Examples of Icon Usage

The examples below show the icons as they display in a results list. For further information on the features the icons represent, please visit the Training and Support tab within the IHS Standards Expert application.
